

Serious Sidewalk Chalk

Contributed by Laura Salvaggio
Monday, 26 February 2007

Sometimes, theatre is such a fleeting artform. Then I see things like this. This guy rocks, and it all goes away with the next rain. Talk about art for the sake of art...

I work like crazy on a show. It opens. It runs. It's over and torn down. Sometimes the strike of a set is therapeutic. Sometimes it's a little sad. Every now and then, I wonder if I should do something with a little more permanence. Most of the time, I'm really happy doing what I do.

I think this guy is pretty happy doing what he does too. He should be. This art is incredible. Seriously, check it out. It is some Serious Sidewalk Chalk Art .